

ENSLAVED, FREEDOM SEEKING, AND FREE

19th-Century African American Life in the Mid-Atlantic Region

Image: Loewentheil Collection of African-American Photographs, Cornell University Library

A FREE LECTURE SERIES presented by the Kennett Underground Railroad Center and Hadley

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

NOVEMBER 3, 2018

Bruce Mowday

J. Howard Wert: Abolitionist and Underground
Railroad Agent
Kendal at Longwood Auditorium

MARCH 23, 2019

Kate Clifford Larson

Harriet Tubman
Kennett Friends Meeting

DECEMBER 8, 2018

Robin Krawitz

19th-Century Delaware Law for African Americans
London Grove Friends Meeting

APRIL 6, 2019

Emma Lapsansky-Werner

The Other Side: Feminism, Publishing, and Law in the 19th-Century Abolitionist Struggle
London Grove Friends Meeting

JANUARY 12, 2019

Nancy Webster

The Geography of the Underground Railroad
New Garden UAME Church

MAY 4, 2019

Denise Burgher

Colored Conventions of the 19th Century
New Garden UAME Church

FEBRUARY 9, 2019

Tonya Thames-Taylor

The Arc of the Moral Universe in the Age of Legalism:
Why the Underground Railroad Matters Today
Church of the Open Door

JUNE 8, 2019

Dr. Bradley Skelcher

African American Education in the 19th Century
Kennett Friends Meeting

admission is FREE
RSVP requested

Schedule subject to change
Details at [Facebook.com/
KennettUndergroundRailroad](https://www.facebook.com/KennettUndergroundRailroad)

For more information, call (484) 544-5070 or e-mail
info@kennettundergroundrr.org

KURC

Kennett Underground Railroad Center

The mission of the Kennett Underground Railroad Center (KURC) is to preserve the heritage and engage the public about the historic abolitionists and freedom-seekers of this area and beyond.

HADLEY
ADMISSION IS FREE • THE EXPERIENCE IS PRICELESS